

Extreme Charity

3 wheels, 2 guys, 1 country

Marty Sharples and Adam Hurley, Intrepid group leaders, are going to extremes to help the street kids of Viet Nam. In September 2005, they will travel 1,700km from Hanoi to Ho Chi Minh City riding a Cyclo – Vietnam's traditional non-motorised passenger transport. Their great effort is to raise funds for 23 new trainees to attend...

KOTO – restaurant and training school in Vietnam

KOTO is a unique and dynamic training program that changes lives. The concept of KOTO began on the streets of Hanoi in 1996 when an Australian Vietnamese man, Jimmy Pham, asked a group of street kids what they wanted out of life. Their response was simple: They needed skills so they could find stable jobs. And so the concept of KOTO was born.

Recognised as one of the leading hospitality training programs in Vietnam, the KOTO project involves theoretical and practical skill development, as well as essential life skills to develop each trainee both personally and professionally. Trainees are encouraged to get involved, contribute ideas and help each other learn, thus instilling a culture of trust, team work and a sense of family throughout KOTO.

Adam and Marty are aiming to raise USD$33,120 to sponsor 23 trainees (former street or working children) who will start their 18 month training course in September.

Intrepid Travel will match all donations given to KOTO (via The Intrepid Foundation) dollar for dollar. Intrepid Travel will fund any administration costs.

Donations can be made by Visa, Mastercard, cheque or money order. Donations will be received and processed by CAF — Charities Aid Foundation, The Intrepid Foundation Account managers.
